

The 5 tolerance commandments

1. Agree that it's OK to ask each other, "Is this a judgment?"
2. Commit to an emotion-free exchange when you're answering the above question.
3. Use the facts—just the facts—in place of judgments.
4. Ask for clarification from clients rather than making assumptions.
5. Practice interactions with clients and identify ways to decrease judgmental statements and actions.